ADJOURNMENT

The agenda order may be adjusted by the Presiding Officer at any time during the meeting.

If, during the course of the meeting, discussion of any item on the agenda should be held in a closed meeting, the board will conduct a closed meeting in accordance with the Texas Open Meetings Act, Texas Government Code, chapter 551, subchapters D and E or Texas Government Code section 418.183(f).

If, during the course of the meeting covered by this Notice, the Board should determine that a closed meeting of the Board should be held or is required in relation to any item included in this notice, then such closed meeting is authorized by Texas Government Code Section 551.001, et. seq., for any of the following reasons:

Section 551.071 - For the purpose of a private consultation with the Board's attorney on any or all subjects or matters authorized by law.

Section 551.072 - For the purpose of discussing the purchase, exchange, lease or value of real property.

Section 551.073 - For the purpose of negotiating contracts for prospective gifts or donations.

Section 551.074 - For the purpose of considering the appointment, employment, evaluation, reassignment, duties, discipline or dismissal of a public officer or employee or to hear complaints or charges against a public officer or employee.

Section 551.076 - To consider the deployment, or specific occasions for implementation, of security personnel and devices.

Section 551.082 - For the purpose of deliberating in a case involving discipline of a public school child or children, or in a case in which a complaint or charge is brought against an employee of the school district by another employee and the complaint or charge directly results in a need for a hearing.

Section 551.0821 - For the purpose of deliberating in a matter regarding a public school student if personally identifiable information about the student will necessarily be revealed by the deliberation.

Section 551.083 - For the purpose of considering the standards, guidelines, terms or conditions the Board will follow, or instruct its representatives to follow, in consultation with representatives of employee groups in connection with consultation agreements provided for by Section 13.901 of the Texas Education Code.

Section 551.084 - For the purpose of excluding a witness or witnesses from a hearing during examination of another witness.

Should any final action, final decision or final vote be required in the opinion of the Board with regard to any matter considered in such closed meeting, then such final action, final decision or final vote shall be at either:

- A. the open meeting covered by this notice upon the reconvening of this public meeting, or
- B. at a subsequent public meeting of the Board upon notice thereof, as the Board shall determine.

Before any closed meeting is convened, the presiding officer will publicly identify the section or sections of the Act authorizing the closed meeting. All final votes, actions, or decisions will be taken in open meeting.

Appendix A: The Role of the State in the Development of the Private Sector

The role of the state in the development of the private sector is a complex and multifaceted issue. It involves a range of factors, including the quality of institutions, the level of government intervention, and the degree of market competition. In this appendix, we will explore the various ways in which the state can influence the private sector and the potential outcomes of these interventions.

The diagram illustrates the complex relationship between the state and the private sector. It shows how state intervention, government policy, and institutional quality can influence the private sector, while market competition and economic growth can also impact the private sector. The private sector, in turn, can influence the state and contribute to economic growth and social welfare.

One of the key ways in which the state can influence the private sector is through government policy. This can include measures such as taxation, subsidies, and regulation. These policies can be used to encourage investment, promote innovation, and protect consumers. However, government policy can also be used to restrict competition and create barriers to entry, which can harm the private sector.

Another important way in which the state can influence the private sector is through institutional quality. This refers to the strength of the legal system, the quality of government services, and the level of corruption. High institutional quality can create a favorable environment for the private sector, while low institutional quality can create a hostile environment.

Market competition is also a key factor in the development of the private sector. Competition can encourage innovation, improve quality, and reduce prices. However, competition can also lead to market failure, particularly in the case of natural monopolies or public goods.

Economic growth and social welfare are also important outcomes of private sector development. Economic growth can lead to higher living standards and improved social welfare. However, economic growth can also lead to increased inequality and environmental degradation.

In conclusion, the role of the state in the development of the private sector is a complex and multifaceted issue. It involves a range of factors, including the quality of institutions, the level of government intervention, and the degree of market competition. Understanding these factors is essential for developing effective policies that promote private sector development and economic growth.
