

The State of Texas mandates that threat assessments must be conducted when students display "harmful, threatening, or violent behavior" which includes threats of self-harm, bullying, cyberbullying, fighting, the use or possession of a weapon, sexual assault, sexual harassment, dating violence, stalking, or assault [TEC 37.115(a)(1)]

Threat assessments are a proactive process of investigating the risk for violence to self and/or others and areas of concern. Individualized interventions are developed based on demonstrated need.

This brochure gives a partial list of actions, behaviors, and circumstances that may indicate greater risk for harm

If you have concerns, please contact your child's principal, counselor, or a School Resource Officer for further consultation.

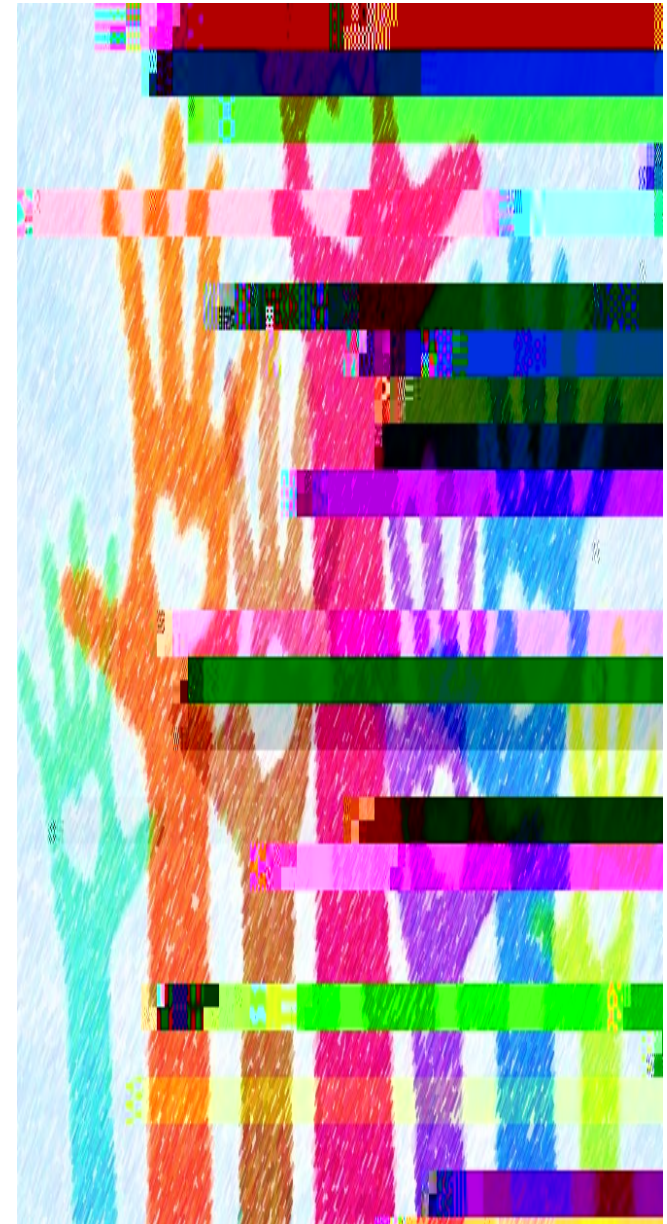

If you have concerns of imminent danger, contact Law Enforcement immediately by calling 911.

Risk Factors Associated with Targeted Violence

*A shift toward a threat of extreme aggression or violence

Violence is aggressive behavior that is intended to, or results in, serious or lethal injury.

*Threatening communications suggesting a potential violent attack

Is the communication an expression that suggests details of planning or ongoing consideration of attack? Communications may include verbal expressions, artwork, email, internet messaging, texting, written language exercises, or any other medium of communication. Communication also
